

Why What I Am Saying Is Not Lashon Ha Ra (The Evil Tongue, Gossip)

Lashon Ha Ra (or the evil tongue) is usually considered to be evil destructive speech for usually sinister purposes. I do not believe that if our speech is to realistically reflect the truth in our world, that all of our comments can be positive in nature. That would be neither realistic nor honest.

Negative situations inevitably arise in people's lives, and sadly evil people exist in our world. Should we sugar coat what truly occurs, with a zeal to avoid Lashon Ha Ra that is based on misunderstood concepts?

Where does one draw the line to determine what is truly Lashon Ha Ra and what is not? If a person who has not been victimized in any way is mocking, ridiculing, humiliating, and unjustly criticizing other people, that is Lashon Ha Ra. The person who speaks Lashon Ha Ra does so usually out of arrogance and always does so totally detached from noble goals that are G-D oriented. The world, nor spiritual truth, is as immediately understandable as simply dividing everything into black and white categories for easy classification. In life, just as in spiritual truth, there are various shades of essence pertaining to concepts that are all too frequently over-simplified, thus leading to erroneous conclusions which at times can be unjust. Is not to speak well of injustice (either directly or indirectly) synonymous with slandering justice?

Does this mean that morals are flexible? Of course not. Biblically based moral codes must be firm, constant, and solid, but at the same time be able to efficiently function within a myriad of situations, ranging from the common to the strange, which might present themselves in our lives. While the morals always remain the same they must function in a unique fashion within each given individual situation, while remaining true to its constant eternal essence.

The circumstances under which comments and actions take place (and above all the motives) determine what is the true moral status of such comments and actions. A person who mocks, humiliates, and taunts another person for sport or malice, or who says negative things about another person because they LOVE to gossip, cannot under any circumstances be justly compared to someone who says the truth about someone (even if that truth is immensely negative) because they have been viciously victimized by that person and need to do so in order to obtain justice, and in the process impede their victimizer from doing further harm.

Gossip Vs. Pursuit of Justice

Many people who misconstrue the concept of what it means to avoid Lashon Ha Ra by stating that all negative comments are sinful, are doing the same as the Christians who twist and misinterpret the teachings of the Jewish Messiah Yeshua by stating that one must hug and kiss unrepentant wicked people, and never, ever, show any anger, traits which the Messiah Himself never exhibited (John 2:15,
Matthew 23:29,
Luke 13:15-17).

“ And when He had made a whip of small cords, He drove them all out of the Temple, and the sheep, and the oxen; and poured out the changers' money, and overthrew the tables;”- Yochanan (John) 2:15

So He didn't hug and kiss the money lenders, He whipped them!

The image to the left was taken from a image search on Lashon Ha Ra. While I can understand how this view might be rational to apply to common non-oppressive everyday situations, in a situation such as mine it would be insane to abide by this philosophy. Ironically, I did for a long time apply this philosophy to my false accuser Ana, and with disastrous results. Whoever sees good in someone who is consciously, and in a very evil, pre-meditated fashion destroying their children's lives and submitting them to an appalling level of physical and emotional abuse and trauma must be delusional (and also insane)!! And indeed most people involved in this lunacy ARE delusional, they're blinded by the devil who protects Ana (Hey! She is after all a closet satanist masquerading as a catholic). I have for years insisted on an investigation on this criminal but everyone is so hoodwinked by her antics that I'm even mocked for demanding an investigation!

Before G-D I do not lie when I have seen my little son start to cry while I was in the bathroom with him (he wanted to show me a lump) and I told him “I know that Ana doesn’t treat you good.” He told me in tears “Ana doesn’t treat me nice but you do.” How can anyone in their right mind tell me to see the “good” in someone who remorselessly does these things to my little boy?! Before G-D I state that those were his EXACT words, and G-D knows I’m saying the truth. How come no one sees the good in me (when there is truly abundant good in my person) when I’m monitored like a lab animal, hounded, and deprived of all of my human rights? Disgusting lies have been spread of me, and those who have slandered me, yet claim that I’m slandering them when I say the truth, even when those people have stated that I’m a danger to my kids, and that I can even kill my own kids!!! See how hypocrisy can take on the appearance of virtue? To those who believe in adhering to this philosophy even in extreme situations when a psychopathic person is wreaking destruction clandestinely, all I can say is the following, what would you think of me if I told you that we should try to see the “good” in Hitler? You would not think well of me then, and with good reason.

Now some can say, “But Hitler killed several million people and your false accuser has only done harm to you, your sons, and your husband.”

It all depends on how one chooses to analyze the situation, if whether according to ignoring harm not instantaneously evident, or by peeling the several layers of this horrendously camouflaged situation to earnestly look at how many bad things being done in secret can have a potentially catastrophic long-term impact. Our Jewish Sages taught (as it is written in The Jerusalem Talmud, Sanhedrin 4:1 (22a)) that he who destroys a life , it is as if he has destroyed the whole world, and he who saves a life, it is as if he has saved the whole world. Now of course, there is the literal killing of a person (something which I know Ana would do to either my sons or I if she felt sure enough that she could pass it off as an “accident” and get away with it, this is not Lashon Ha Ra, its the truth as her obsessive hatred knows no bounds, though it is well concealed).

According to Amitai Halevi (cf. here), Rambam in Hilkhot Sanhedrin 12:3 follows the Yerushalmi's reading. To quote Mechon Mamre's text (there it is 12:7):

לפיכך נברא אדם יחידי בעולם--ללמד שכל המאבד נפש אחת, מעלין עליו כאילו איבד עולם מלא, וכל המקיים נפש אחת, מעלין עליו כאילו קיים עולם מלא.

Therefore man was created individual and unique in the world: to teach that anyone who destroys a single soul, it is considered as if he has destroyed an entire world, and anyone who saves a single soul, it is considered as if he has saved an entire world.

Halevi there also says

Hameiri too bases his commentary on the Yerushalmi version, illustrating "the destruction of a whole world" by pointing out that Cain's murder of Abel eliminated all of his victim's descendants at one fell swoop. Abel, like Adam was not Jewish; he was not even the ancestor of Jews.

However, both Scripture and the Talmud, and basic wisdom and logic tell us that there are many ways of killing a person, and some of those ways are not always so evident, especially if one is biased towards the person committing the act. If one does harm to children by inflicting severe harm that can have the potential of rendering their lives unlivable in a normal sense, one has killed in life (even if not literally) not only those children but their future descendants who will be affected by what was done to the children who would grow up to be their ancestors.

The act of destroying future generations by destroying one person is also tied in Scripture to adulteress women who cuckold their husbands.

Ezekiel 16:38 proves that there are many ways of killing apart from literal killing.

“ And I will judge you, as women that break wedlock and shed blood are judged; and I will give you blood in fury and jealousy.”

Why does G-D equate a married woman who breaks her marriage vows to someone who sheds blood? Because she IS in a non-visible sense shedding blood, the blood of her husband, and his right to have an authentic line of decent that is truly his, and not of another unidentified man. A married woman who sleeps with another man can become pregnant of that strange man and then pass the putrid fruit of that forbidden union as the offspring of her unsuspecting husband, thus shedding his blood and affecting any true descendants which that man might have in the future, or depriving him of true descendants if he never begets children of his own because he thinks that he already has offspring. Also people born of adultery seldom grow up to be anything good because their existence is due to a violation of G-D's Laws, so they might end up being menaces to others in society thus causing the shedding of even more blood.

Hence, the Bible gives examples of shedding blood while not shedding blood literally. However, in the case of my sons their blood has been shed in a literal sense (though not in a fatal sense) due to past physical abuses which Ana has inflicted on my sons and which include mutilations with sharp implements, and venting her irrational anger against them by making small cuts and scratches on their small bodies. My sons almost always come to visits with a myriad of little cuts and scratches on different parts of their bodies, and I know that “accidents” cannot be so consistent and in so many different parts of their bodies.

To the right: bruise on other leg

I recall on one occasion in the summer of 2010 before my youngest son Galileo was potty trained, seeing a cut on his buttock while I was changing a diaper. I also recall on one of the home visits in which the boys would come to our house seeing a small slit scar on Wencito's chest (near the center of the chest). I'm not fabricating any of this. These are not usual places for “accidental cuts” to occur (though some of these cuts are more like small slits). Look at some of the photos which I have placed above and tell me that my son did not shed a lot of blood when those big slits were made on his body. I have more photos and videos, but no one wants to see what is going on. In addition to the physical abuse which has caused a literal shedding of my sons' blood, Ana has slandered my sons, saying lies about them to pass them off as problematic children (nobody seems to be going after her for slandering babies while I'm attacked for simply saying the truth about her). I have more evidence than this, of all the slander which she has said of my sons, but the link below shows some of the forms which prove this:

Ana has falsely said of my eldest son that he hit and spit at his teacher, when my baby is innocent and does not do those things. My sons are way more innocent in their personality than Ana's daughters were at their age , and I know what I'm saying because at one time when her daughters were in the age range that my sons are in now, I and my husband would take them out frequently, and so I saw her girls during that period on a frequent basis.

On a few occasions I heard them talking of things that I did not think was appropriate for the age that they were at the time. Of course, they were not to blame, Ana was.

Ana's slander also extends to demeaning my sons' intelligence and abilities by distorting the normal reactions to trauma, abuse, and conditioning which she provokes in them as supposed evidence of them having "special needs".

My sons have been branded with several stigmatizing labels which do have the potential to affect their self-esteem and severely destroy the quality of their lives. The so-called basis for branding my sons with these labels have been my sons' normal reactions to the engineered trauma that they have been constantly exposed to, and disturbed Ana's slanderous testimonials of "how they are".

Just with the slandering of my sons, the trauma she has intentionally subjected them to, and the stigmatizing labels she has caused them to be branded with, she has done what can be accurately described as a lifetime of harm to my poor boys.

If one then takes into account the physical abuse she has inflicted on them, how she is intentionally teaching my sons to violate G-D's Commandments, how she is exerting herself fervently to destroy their parents' marriage (they are trying to blackmail my husband into divorcing me), and how in all likelihood she is giving my youngest son Galileo (who never had any type of fragility in his stomach since he was a baby) food that is either spoilt or not prepared in a hygienic fashion so that he will get frequent stomach ailments, only a hopelessly dishonest person would have the audacity to claim that this monstrous woman has not shed blood, and in doing so according to the Jewish Sages she has destroyed the whole world.

There are many little Hitlers today in this world. People who lack the capacity for basic remorse, and who if provided with the necessary circumstances can commit crimes similar to those of Hitler. Remember, that Hitler did what he did because he was freed from societal restraints by being given power, which in turn gave free reign to his psychopathic nature. Many of Hitler's henchmen considered themselves “family men” and played with their own children and spent time with their families, while sending millions of other people's children to be savagely killed in camps. So there are people like Hitler and his henchmen in our day, its just that societal regulations keep them more or less in check, and so its difficult at times to discern who could be a potential Hitler if given the necessary circumstances for that suppressed part of their nature to be unleashed.

The common traits are almost always the same:

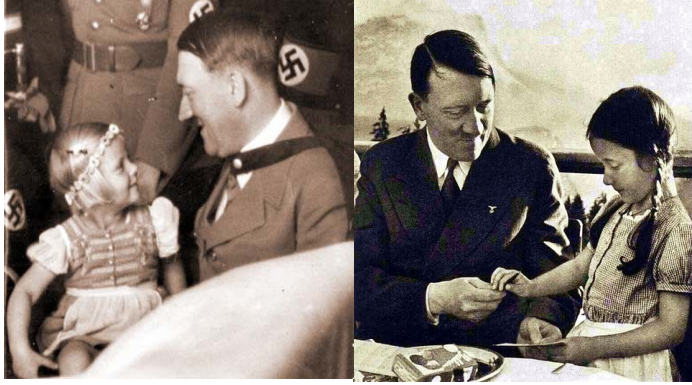

- 1) a severe inability to feel basic remorse,
- 2) gross lack of compassion,
- 3) adept at deceiving and manipulating,
- 4) a sneaky nature,
- 5) and a sense of being untouchable fueled by a gargantuan selfishness,
- and 6) possible involvement in satanic activities.

Seen to the right: Joseph Goebbels and his family while guests of Adolf Hitler.

Goebbels with catholic NAZI clergymen. Now to be fair there were some catholic priests who hid Jewish children to save them.

Amazing! One would almost think that he's gentle!!!
So don't let Ana's propaganda photos which she tells her brainwashed daughters to post, or which she herself might post, fool you.

When will people stop being so superficial and see beyond the often glittery mirage of appearances?

2 Corinthians 11:14 “And no marvel; for satan himself is transformed into an angel of light.”

Above, this deceitful psychopath was all smiley face with small children at whom he appears to even look at affectionately. Below, can be see the truth behind the pleasant-looking exterior. While he pretended to be nice to children he was in fact secretly murdering millions of children. Though some news had reached the allied forces of these camps, most people did not take the news seriously as they had a hard time believing that such a thing could be true.

It was only after the NAZI's were defeated that the allied soldiers were horrified and shocked at what they discovered.

One can smirk at the attempt to explain the destructive potential of the would-be Hitlers of this world, but whichever approach at viewing my situation (and the problem of disturbed evil people existing in general) one might take, it is undeniably outrageous to ask me to see a non-existent “good” in someone who has done so much harm to my marriage, my little boys, and even to other people (which I will not delve in here, as it would be too time consuming and is not related to the principal topic of this essay-report). Fantasy does not equate virtue, and you cannot wish goodness into existence by dreaming that it is present where its evidently not.

When noble concepts are distorted, the terrain is made fertile for the propagation of evil, because Justice (which is at the very heart of those noble concepts) is deemed too harsh, and what should be considered virtuous is then suddenly labeled as sinful.

Example: Why do you avoid Lashon Ha Ra? To promote Justice, to be a just person. But if you refuse to speak negatively of a criminal, and your silence leads to misery and suffering for those being oppressed (in this case children), is that just?

If one is in a life-and-death situation, or at the least in a very grave situation which can only be truthfully resolved by saying a negative truth about someone, must one then forego the pursuit of Justice, which is at the heart of the Torah, in order to continue speaking only “positive things”.

Example: If a man rapes a young girl, and the only way that the girl's parents can bring the rapist to justice is to say the truth about what the rapist has done (and might still be doing to other girls), should the girl's parents remain silent and further victimize their daughter because anything negative which they say about the rapist can be interpreted as being Lashon Ha Ra?!!

How can a criminal/tragic/unjust situation be described in solely positive terms without ceasing to be honest? How can the reality of a situation be accurately conveyed when it is buried under layers of sugar-coating for the sake of a phantom virtue? A deeply negative situation cannot be made positive through the refusal to verbally acknowledge that negativity.

If we do not bring people to accountability because of a misguided notion of what truly is Lashon Ha Ra, the scenario in Philadelphia described in a 2010 article screenshot below, might be also extended to other areas of societal function.

The Criminal Justice Center, located in Center City, will be remodeled and assigned Zone floors that include detectives, prosecuting attorneys, judges, and case management of their jurisdiction. DA Williams cites that 52 percent of felony cases are dropped at the municipal court stage due to "lack of prosecution," which merely means lack of organization and caring to most of us. This lack of prosecution has allowed countless numbers of criminals to go free and lack of protection has done far worse.

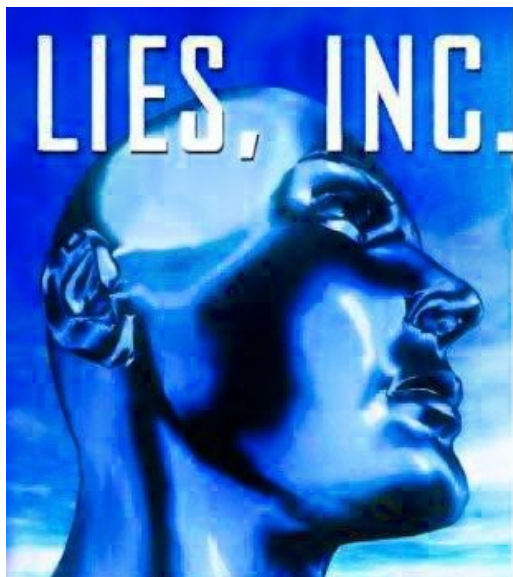

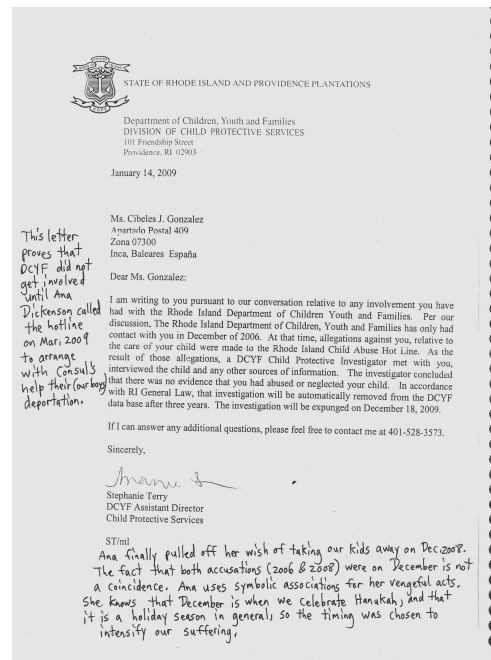

As a resident of Philadelphia for 13 years and voting for Mr. Williams in 2003, I feel the streets may finally be safer. With difficulties Philadelphians face while trying to enjoy a night in their backyard- gunshots heard in the ally, drug buys on the corner and the overall criminal element freely walking around-families are forced to change their lifestyle to revolve around criminals to feel safe. Philadelphia is finally taking much-needed initiative concerning the residents' safety is a step in the right direction.

Of course, one can acknowledge a negative situation while always seeking to retain a mostly positive attitude toward life (because of one's faith in G-D). However, to seek to represent the truly negative as positive, by condemning a truthful assessment of its state is absurd and has no basis in Scripture. When the Messiah called certain Pharisees and scribes "hypocrites and vipers" (MattiYahu-Matthew 23: 27-33) was He saying Lashon Ha Ra, or simply honestly exposing that which is most harmful left concealed? Does not the Brit Chadasha tell us that we should not have fellowship with the works of darkness, but rather should reprove them (Ephesians 5:11)? Does not the Tanakh tell us to deliver the poor and needy from the wicked (Psalm 82:2-4)? How can one do that if one insists on only speaking nice things about the wicked, especially when those things are fictional?! It is evident that in order to bring wicked people to justice you must openly acknowledge their wickedness, and how can anything be openly acknowledged in silence?

The Bible condemns vengeance and doing harm to others, but not exposing people in the moral pursuit of justice. All this explained I will accurately explain my situation. I am the victim (as are my sons who have been labeled) of a vicious smear campaign and multiple false accusations. I have been denied access to a REAL court where I can effectively defend myself and present evidence, leaving me no other resort other than the Internet. It must be said that I am not the only parent victimized by CPS who has taken this recourse, many others have done so as well.

My principal false accuser (who has falsely accused me in the past prior to this situation arising) just happens to be a superb actress who has everyone fooled and who is abusing my innocent little sons behind closed doors.

I say my principal accuser because Ana's sister Leticia, and believe it or not Ana's mother (the adulteress woman, who physically abused my husband at one time, betrayed him, then threw him out in the street with his belongings to bring another guy to live with her) were also conspirators in the engineering of these false accusations, but of course Ana is the MAIN player. Seen to the right is a scanned image of a letter sent to me by DCYF before Ana involved them in this lunacy, and which proves that Ana had falsely accused me before in 2006. The letter can be viewed in a large format at the link below:

<http://picturepush.com/+bRoa>

I have had to suffer gross indignities which few women would be able to bear, like having an adulteress, who chose of her own free will to abandon my husband decades ago, come and forcefully meddle in our marriage and in the personal lives of I and my husband, and even in the planning of what would be done with our sons. My sons at one time were given to this adulteress in 2009 according to an e-mail that I received at the time, and up until this day this adulteress woman still has access to my sons (since they're at her daughter Ana's house), something which greatly worries me given her past violent behavior towards my husband, and how she would bother us, calling us at our house before we went to Spain, screaming on the phone like a banshee. I really felt oppressed in such an environment with the constantly meddling of these three women who would not even let me even breathe. Ana was also stalking us where we used to live, so the situation was nearly unbearable.

Because Ana is so adept at deceiving and portrays herself as something which she really is not, my sons' well being and safety depend on I exposing this dangerous woman who is passing herself off as a benign person who “cares” about my sons when in reality (and G-D Knows that I speak the truth) she hates my sons, is envious of them, and wishes them to grow up in a broken home with divorced parents, or faraway from us with strangers as adopted children.

This disturbed spiteful woman has wreaked havoc in my marriage and in the lives of my children whom she has traumatized, abused, and caused to be labeled with stigmatizing fictional maladies that in the long-run can blight their full potential. Those who propagate the distorted anti-Biblical philosophy that one should happily forgive an UNREPENTANT sinner, should bear in mind that I am at present in this situation precisely because I went way beyond what the Bible demanded of me, and indeed forgave when the Bible stated that Justice should be pursued.

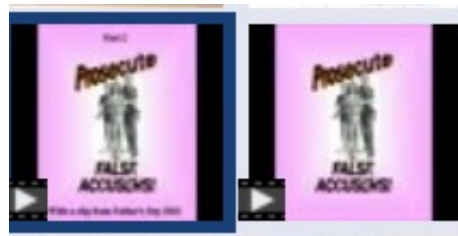

The Torah says that those who maliciously and knowingly bear false witness in order to destroy an innocent person should be held accountable for their evil intent (Deuteronomy 19:15-19). Under no circumstances should one forgive a wicked UNREPENTANT person who ENJOYS doing evil and shows NO CAPACITY for REMORSE. However, the Bible does condemn taking revenge.

In December of 2006 (and we had not moved anywhere then) Ana falsely reported us for child abuse and neglect (go to page 11 of this pdf to see image and link of letter proving this). An investigation done then, exonerated us, and our son Wencito (I was pregnant with my second son at the time) remained with us. I had at the time proof (in a letter giving the investigation results) that we had been falsely accused by Ana, this in addition to her own admission that she had done it because my husband “did not visit her enough”.

I could have, and indeed SHOULD HAVE pressed charges against her. Indeed, I sinned and violated the Torah by forgiving her when it was so evident that she did not show the slightest sign of remorse. If I would have pressed charges against her in December 2006, instead of sinfully forgiving when it was not Biblically mandated to do so in that given situation, she really would have thought twice before trying to falsely accuse us again in 2008. As a result, I would have spared my sons the ordeal that they have gone through during the last 3 ½ years. This did not really occur “because we chose to move”. That is just a convenient excuse, because we had not moved anywhere in 2006 when Ana falsely accused us of child abuse the first time. It also should be understood that Ana knew that we were going to move but pretended not to know about it (a favorite tactic of hers), as she was stalking us at the time at Broadway Plaza, where she had also lived for most of her life (1976-1998). To see videos documenting this go to the links below:

<http://picturepush.com/+ZnWx>

<http://picturepush.com/+ZnaY>

If this occurred it was really because unwarranted leniency was shown where the Torah demanded Justice, and at seeing how she got away with her 2006 fiasco, she was further emboldened to accomplish her long-held endeavor in 2008, taking advantage of any situation that was rife for distorting.

Ana, with those who have helped her, have spun this enormously intricate web of deception, even using false bribed witnesses. She was behind the theft of one of my computers (see link below) ,and is involved in cybercrime, and as such has caused ALL my computers to be hacked. Something which I have ample evidence of.

<http://archive.org/details/TheJune17thPoliceReportGivenToMyHusband>

All of our human rights are violated while our sons are destroyed by this woman who is a wolf masquerading in sheep's clothing.

Given the gravity of my tragic predicament, how my sons' safety is SERIOUSLY at stake, and how I've been denied access to a REAL court where I would experience due process, can anyone honestly and with a clean conscience accuse me of Lashon Ha Ra for seeking to expose this woman and the sham that is her life?

Can I be compared to those who taunt and criticize for pleasure, to avid gossipers? If this woman would get out of my life, and out of my children's lives forever, I would gladly never mention her again, but not only has she so forcibly entrenched herself in my oppressed life and in the lives of my victimized sons, but she like a weed destroys and sucks the life out of one while appearing to be a benign flower.

For years I have wanted to get this woman out of our lives and simply be able to breathe easy and live my life in peace, but her obsession with my husband, with destroying our marriage, and her intense need to do harm is just too great, and this need is only heightened by her unfulfilled personal life.

G-D Knows that I have no other resort than to truthfully expose her as best as I can in order to bring about an investigation on her since I lack the resources for a private investigator, or even for a lawyer. Since I have been denied due process, and the architect of all this misery is a superb actress, I have no other choice than to expose her.

This is not Lashon Ha Ra, but a Sacred crusade, a life-saving operation to save my two little boys from this disguised monster. My sons must be saved from her and her corrupt influences (she is a pagan who is into witchcraft) so that they can be taught to serve the G-D of Israel and to obey HIS Laws (she's intentionally feeding them pork, lobster, shrimp, clams, and meat cheese burgers).

My sons' physical and spiritual well-being depend on this woman Ana being exposed and brought to Justice for the numerous crimes which she has joyously chosen to commit of her own free will.

I never did harm to this disturbed woman nor to her daughters. I never tried to destroy her marriage (even though that marriage is not Biblically valid: Deuteronomy 24:1-4), and I never meddled in her life in general. She's unhappy with herself, she married a man that she did not love for convenience, which made her in turn fixate more on my husband. She does not want to see my husband married to any woman. These comments are not Lashon Ha Ra but unattractive truths which must be understood in order to comprehend why her intense need to destroy our marriage and family is so persistent and unyielding.

Ana knows how her marriage came about, and she also knows whom she truly preferred, and so do others who are acquainted with that story. The truth is that if Ana would have married a man whom she was deeply in love with, she would be too happy and occupied living her fulfilled life, and worrying about her man, to be spending her free time trying to destroy other people's marriages and families. I forgave this woman CONSISTENTLY for 2 ½ years, even when the Bible did not oblige me to, given the circumstances, and her extreme lack of capacity for feeling basic remorse. I even helped her and her sister out in various ways, and cared for their children.

I invited Ana and her daughters to Wencito's first birthday party at a party place (we made two different parties for Wencito in January 2006), and she repaid me by stealing a piece of paper which had personal info (including my social security number) from my coat pocket. At the time of the theft she was the only one who was with the coats as everyone else was elsewhere. Ana used to shoplift as a teen, she stole that paper from my coat pocket in 2006, she's behind the theft of my computer last year (2011), she's stolen my sons, and has committed fraud with our social security money, so this is not just a passing fad, she STILL steals. I doubt that those who have condemned me would have been nice for so long to someone who showed herself time and again to be NASTY, RUDE, and extremely DISRESPECTFUL. I am not the only person who has made this assessment of Ana, her sister's ex-husband and his mother have said the same of Ana and her sister Leticia, and even my husband's mother had a hard time getting along with Ana and was not too fond of her.

The World is full of ~~MONSTERS~~ with Friendly Faces

I treated this woman well and only received mistreatment and a knife in the back. Now this woman is destroying my precious children who are treasures which G-D Gave me and whom I have a Sacred G-D Given duty to protect. What G-D Fearing Torah observant parent in my predicament would consider it sinful to expose this unrepentant monster if it is the only way to save her children?

Let us cease to distort noble goals such as avoiding Lashon Ha Ra and forgiveness in order to unwittingly facilitate the cancerous propagation of evil, when those goals being distorted exist to combat evil and not to nurture it. Justice can never be sugar-coated to make it palatable to consistent victimizers, and leniency should only be available to those who are TRULY REPENTANT, not to those who take great joy in constantly committing evil, especially when that evil extends to little children.

Ironically, if anyone has been the victim of Lashon Ha Ra it has been I and my sons. We have been mocked, degraded, slandered, and ridiculed, and our dignity as human beings viciously trampled on. As a result of I writing this report in order to clarify the unjust nature of false condemnations which might be directed at me for defending my sons, it is my recommendation that Ana be monitored so that she does not take retaliation against my poor sons whom she has abused enough already. Ana monitors all my sites (and has others who do so for her as well) and as soon as this is published she will be instantly notified of it.

If my sons end up with bruises, cuts, strange stomach ailments, and scrapes, then it means that she vented once more her irrational out-of-control anger on them.

I appeal to those who claim to have decency and to value decency, this woman MUST be monitored if my sons' well-being is to be safe-guarded, and if the truth about how she truly is, is to be exposed. If I can be unlawfully hounded and monitored by Ana, agencies, and her allies when I did not abuse my kids and do not do harm to anyone, surely it is just and impartial that she be subjected to the same treatment especially when there is so much evidence of her sinister motives and of her abuse of my sons. Of course, those who monitor me do not do so in pursuit of truth (as they are the same people who have violated the law and who cover up for Ana all her crimes). I am being submitted to a witch hunt (even though Ana is the REAL witch) in order to frame me, and further violate my civil rights. What I am being subjected to is NOT an investigation, and there was NO PRIOR investigation in any sense of the word before the children were stolen from us. It also should be said that investigations are conducted by IMPARTIAL, UNBIASED people who REALLY want to get at the truth, and not by the co-conspirators of your false accusers who are desperate to frame you, so what I am being subjected to is NOT an investigation, but a blatant violation of my human rights. The same people who monitor me are the ones who have helped Ana bribe false witnesses, concoct convincing fantasy scenarios, hack my computers, and deny me due process. There would not be a legal basis anyhow for an investigation on me because there never was any evidence that I abused my kids, whereas I have a gloomy photo and video album of abuse and neglect being done to my sons while in Ana's so-called "care", plus evidence for her motives in doing all this, all of which WOULD form a legal basis for launching an investigation on her by impartial people.

It is my sincere and fervent hope that this essay-report be taken seriously and that it be accurately viewed as an intentionally informative attempt to safeguard my sons' well being as well as my own rights by bringing to light that which others have so passionately chosen to ignore. Though the comparison may seem farfetched to some who cannot understand that great tragedies can replay themselves on a smaller scale and in diverse ways, it should be remembered that people during the time of the NAZI occupation allowed themselves to be governed by superficiality, and that in part is why the horrific abuses in the concentration camps went undetected until the NAZI's downfall, when sadly it was already too late for many of their victims. Read the article at the link below first and you will understand.
